Dear David

I write to thank you for the work you have carried out on behalf of Westholme School in examining several areas of our overhead expenditure.

Over the last couple of years you have taken over the supervision of our energy supplies from our previous broker, often showing substantial savings in the process, as well as obtaining a rebate for overpayment on one supply. Other areas where savings have been made include stationery supplies.

Your professionalism and true no win – no fee approach does mean we have nothing to lose. With no fees to pay where no savings are found, and successful projects paying for themselves, this is an invaluable service that I am happy to recommend particularly to other independent schools looking seriously at reducing their overhead spending. I look forward to working with you on further projects in the future.

Yours sincerely
